The Rules of the Ring

-by Beth Martinec

As we head into another show season, it's important to remind ourselves of the basic rules of the ring so that we can all get the most out of our sport and share in the successes of our co-competitors. Every rider is trying to do their best, practice their test, and enjoy the experience with their horse, so it's not worth getting upset over someone's mistake or lack of experience riding in a show environment. Be polite and ride with an awareness of your surroundings. If you are an experienced competitor or trainer, take some time to share some basic rules with your fellow equestrians and students. Also, take it upon yourself to set an example of good arena etiquette so that others may learn from you and follow your lead.

Riders should pass left to left. Everyone who has ridden dressage for any period of time knows this one. It's an easy one to remember since you're passing each other just the same way you'd drive a car. If you are tracking right and a horse is coming towards you on the rail, you must move off the track and pass with the oncoming horse on your left. This rule does not apply if you or another rider is circling. When on a circle, stay to the inside of the track and let all riders going straight have the rail. There is no need to thread in and out in order to pass on the left.

Maintain adequate spacing and be aware of your speed and tempo. Treat every horse as if it might kick and maintain a safe distance from them. Some horses really don't appreciate a strange horse crowding their space so this can make them extra nervous on top of already being in a charged up environment. This crowding may also make the rider nervous if they are inexperienced or riding a green horse or one prone to nervousness. If you are an upper level rider, be aware that practicing your medium trot, or canter, or passage can be unnerving for some horses and riders as you go flying around them at a good clip. Practice these movements with tact and at places where you have a clear path in front of you. If you are overtaking slower traffic going in the same direction, always pass to the inside. If you are a lower level rider, pay attention to what the advanced riders are practicing and try to stay out of their way; don't cross the path of someone doing 3-tempis.

The warm-up arena is a work environment. Be prepared to work as you enter it. Don't wander in and cut someone off already at work. Have all of your equipment adjusted before you enter. If you do need to stop and adjust or talk to your trainer, make sure to do so in a spot that is out of the way of traffic and the entrance, and don't linger there longer than necessary. Have an awareness of the other riders as you are warming up. Before you make a turn or circle check to make sure that you won't be interfering with someone coming up behind you. If you are just walking, stay off the rail and out of the way of riders going faster or riding advanced movements. Also, don't be a ring hog. I know you might really want to stay on that 20 meter circle right in front of your trainer, but you're not there to take a private lesson. All the same rules apply to you; and riders practicing certain movements may need to ride through the turf you've claimed for your circle.

Product Endorsements/Advertising**

In most cases, products and services are considered paid advertising. Occasionally a specific product will be named as to how it benefits the horse or rider, but this is discouraged. Press Releases are welcome. Likewise, articles that are negative in nature concerning a particular product will not be considered for publication.

Use your whip with tact. The sound of a whip zipping through the air or making contact can be enough to disturb a sensitive horse. Try to use it so that it doesn't make a loud noise. Also be aware that if you ride too close to another horse and use your whip, you could inadvertently hit that horse with your whip. Be polite – control your whip.

Plugging in shouldn't mean tuning out. Wireless headsets are the standard these days and have changed the way riders warm up for their tests. Gone are the days of trainers just shouting at you from across the arena, or giving you a quick tip as you trot by. Now the warm-up arena is filled with amateur riders getting another "lesson" as they warm up for their class. Headsets are a great tool: they make the warm-up arena a quieter, more relaxed atmosphere; they allow trainers to warm up multiple riders at the same time; and the rider can use more of the ring while still listening to their trainer. The down side is that they allow the rider to ride in a bubble of oblivion; and as a result have no awareness of other riders or potential problems headed their way. You can get wrapped up in your own little world, forgetting about the other riders. You also don't have the benefit of hearing another trainer tell their student to start a half pass right in your path. One effective way to combat this "bubble effect" is to ride with only one earpiece in; that way you can hear your surroundings with one ear and your trainer with the other. The other way to stay tuned in is to have your trainer watch out for potential trouble and help you steer clear.

If it's broke don't fix it. The warm-up arena is not the place to fix gaps in your horses training. It's not the place to "duke it out", teach your horse some manners, a new movement, or how to keep their sanity under pressure. No one wants to watch you bully your horse around or ride dangerously. You are not going to fix a problem in one warm-up ride and no one is impressed at your ability to fire up your horse and then hang on for the ride. We all have bad days and bad rides - after all we are riding huge beasts with minds of their own; but taking out your frustration in the warm-up is never a good idea. Remember that you could be putting other riders and bystanders in danger with this kind of behavior. The warm-up should be a positive experience for both horse and rider. If it's not going well for you, it may be better for you to de-escalate the situation or to excuse yourself rather than become a danger and potentially ruin someone else's show experience or worse.

If you want to read more about dressage etiquette, the USDF has a publication titled, "Dressage Protocol" with lots of good information on how to conduct yourself at competitions and be a role model for our sport. You can find it at www.usdf.org/edDocs/competition/dressage_protocol.pdf

~ REGION 5 DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE ~

The USDF convention is just around the corner and it's going to be a lot of fun having it our Region. We are in Salt Lake City, Utah this year November 28th-December 1st. Information and registration forms for the Convention and Symposium are available at www.usdf.org/Convention/. Please consider joining us for the information Regional meetings, the great educational sessions and a delicious and entertaining year end awards dinner.

Your Participating Member Delegates to the USDF Convention for 2018 are Eva-Maria Adolphi, Joan Clay, Cynthia Ganem, Beth Geier and Laurie Mactavish. These ladies will be representing our Region during the voting portions of the Board of Governors meetings, in addition to representatives from each GMO. Please feel free to contact them regarding your viewpoints – their contact information can be found at <http://www.usdf.org/about/about-usdf/governance/nominating/DelegatesResults.asp?regionpass=5>.

In October, we will have the USDF Region 5 Jr/YR clinic with George Williams at the Colorado Horse Park. Congratulations to the ladies who were selected to ride: Izabelle Durbin, Megan Kelleghan, Gaylen Davis, Elizabeth Petersen, Julia Barton, Olivia Williams, Madeline Chalecki, Sage Lau and Malia Sherer. It's great to see such depth forming in our youth for Region 5!

I hope many of you were able to support the USDF Region 5 Championships competition in Scottsdale, Arizona as volunteers, sponsors or competitors. I was very sad not to be able to go this year due to a conflict in my work schedule but I look forward to seeing everyone at the USDF Finals in November at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, Kentucky.

Till next month!
Heather Petersen

Region 5 Director

Become A Sponsor -

Sponsorship and donations help the ADA fulfill our mission of promoting classical dressage education within our local equine community. Our sponsors support the competitions we attend and are key contributors to the educational events, scholarships, and grants that the ADA provides each year.

The ADA is fortunate to have many long-time sponsors who are always there when we need them.

You can be a part of this dedicated group as well. If you are interested in sponsoring an upcoming show, classes, or other educational events, you can now go to <https://azdressage.org/sponsorship/> for more information or to make a donation.

ARIZONA
HORSE NOMINATION FORM
2019 Arizona State Dressage Championships
November 16-17, 2019, Pima County Fairgrounds, Tucson, AZ
Qualifying period for 2019 State Championships: October 1, 2018 through September 30, 2019

- ❖ $25 Nomination fee must be received before qualifying scores are earned.
- ❖ Once the horse has been nominated it is not necessary to pay additional qualifying fees on entries. NOTE: The “Q” Qualifying fee on the show entry refers to Regional Championship qualifying, not to State Championships. Scores are tracked for State Championships, once the horse has been nominated.
- ❖ You must be a member of an Arizona GMO by August 31, 2019 to ride in the Arizona State Championship Show.

The Arizona State Championships will be held at the Pima County Fairgrounds, Tucson, AZ.

For scores to count toward qualification for the State Championships, a $25 nomination fee must be paid for each horse. This fee must be paid before any rides will count toward qualifying.

Since only one horse/rider combination can compete at State Championships, the fee goes toward the horse. Multiple riders may qualify on the same horse if the nomination fee has been paid for that horse. If multiple riders qualify on the same horse, one rider only may compete in the State Championship classes and the concurrent Fall Festival show. See State Championship Rule 5.

There are two ways to file your Nomination Form:

1. Send the nomination with a $25 check, payable to Tucson Dressage Club “TDC” to the address listed below.
2. Include the nomination and check, payable to TDC, with your show entry to any Recognized show in Arizona-- ADA, Tucson Dressage Club (TDC), Coconino or Road Runner.

Check the current Arizona Dressage Omnibus or ADA and TDC websites for complete State Championship rules. Updates will also be posted on these websites, if required: ADA: www.azdressage.org; TDC: www.tucsondressageclub.org .

Please make check payable to TDC and send to: Paula Madden
